The University

The University of Massachusetts at Boston is a public university, founded in 1964. Its faculty, distinguished both for scholarship and for dedication to teaching, works closely with students to maintain individual academic relationships. The resultant atmosphere of trust and camaraderie promotes rich opportunities for development in the pursuit of a superior education.

The University has two campuses. The Harbor Campus, on Dorchester Bay, is the site of the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Management, the Institute for Learning and Teaching, the Program in Physical Education, and the School of Nursing. The campus includes three academic centers, the 11-story Joseph P. Healey Library and the Catherine Forbes Clark Athletic Center. UMass/Boston students and faculty may also share in the impressive resources of the nearby John F. Kennedy Presidential Library. The University's Downtown Center, located at 100 Arlington Street in Park Square, houses the College of Public and Community Service. The campus is in the midst of many of Boston's civic, cultural and historical attractions. Both campuses are served by public transportation. Parking for private vehicles is available for a nominal charge at the Harbor Campus. A free shuttle bus service connects both campuses.

Summer Admission

Students who have graduated from high school or who have earned certificates of general educational development are welcome to take Summer Session courses at the University of Massachusetts at Boston. College-bound high school juniors and seniors interested in beginning their college educations are also invited to take Summer Session courses. The University assumes that students registering for undergraduate courses will accurately assess their ability to do college-level work. It is the responsibility of students to meet prerequisites for individual courses.

To be admitted to any graduate-level course a student must have earned a Bachelor's degree, unless other requirements are specified in this catalog or unless written permission is obtained from the faculty member teaching the course.

Summer Session courses carrying credit are equivalent in method and content to regular University courses. Credits earned in these courses may be applied toward UMass/Boston degree requirements and are ordinarily accepted as transfer credits by other colleges.

Summer enrollment does not imply acceptance into a degree program at the University of Massachusetts. Any student who wishes to matriculate at the University must submit an application to the Admissions Office. (If the student does matriculate, as many as sixteen undergraduate credits, or six graduate credits, earned during the summer may be counted toward degree requirements.)

For adults considering return to college the Admissions Office offers informational seminars every Wednesday at both the Harbor Campus and the Downtown Center. For information about these seminars, and about admissions procedures in general, call 929-8000.

Academic Skills

Academic Skills 034
Fundamentals of Algebra
This is a course for students who have mastered arithmetic but not beginning algebra. They are either students who never studied algebra in high school, or who studied it so long ago or so ineffectively that they must approach all introductory algebra topics as new rather than review material. The course has two major goals: 1) to introduce students to algebraic notation and concepts so that in one reasonably paced semester in Math 110 they can learn the material needed to enter the pre-Calculus course (Math 130); 2) to develop successful study and test taking techniques so that students will be prepared to handle the pressure of regular math department courses and exams. The course will cover the following topics: integral components; polynomials—their simplification, combination, and evaluation; linear equations—how to solve them, graph them, and use them to solve word problems; ratios and proportions. The course will also introduce such topics as systems of equations, multiplication, and factoring of polynomials.
Note: The fee for this two credit course is $142.50.
Prerequisite: Math Diagnostic Test only.

Note: students matriculated in UMass/Boston's College of Management should check the bulletin board outside the Student Services Office (020/3/414) for additional information.

AF210
Financial Accounting
Presents the theory and techniques of financial accounting. The course encompasses the basic functions of collecting, processing, and reporting accounting information for interested third parties (e.g., owners, investors, and government) and enables students to analyze, interpret, and use accounting information effectively.

AF211
Managerial Accounting
Presents the theory and techniques of managerial accounting, from the particular perspective of the manager. The course covers the identification and analysis of the behavior of costs within the organization, and illustrates how managers use such knowledge for planning and control. Major topics include responsibility accounting, comprehensive and cash budgeting, and standard job order and process cost systems.
Prerequisite: AF210.

Please see description under "Special Programs" on page 15.

AmCiv C203
The Thirties
A study of American society and culture during the years from the Panic of 1929 to the attack on Pearl Harbor in December, 1941, using several kinds of evidence: the accounts of people who lived during the decade, the interpretations of historians, and the representations of artists, writers, and filmmakers. The objective of the course will be to develop an idea of the main characteristics of American society and culture during the 1930's, a conception of the decade's significance, and increased understanding of the processes of historical and cultural analysis and interpretation.
Core Area: Historical and Cultural Studies.

Anthropology

Anth C102
Introduction to Archaeology and Biological Anthropology
The study of the biological and cultural heritage of humans. Topics include: primate and human evolution, human adaptation and variation, and the evolution of prehistoric cultures.
Core Area: Natural Sciences.

May 29–Jul 11, MW 6:00–8:50pm, DC 524, Staff, Sched No 704250, 3 Credits

Jul 16–Aug 23, MTuWTh 8:15–9:40am, HC 020/1/418, Staff, Sched No 704305, 3 Credits

Anth C103
Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
The study of recent and contemporary human societies in cross-cultural perspective. Ethnographic accounts are used to analyze and compare variations in cultural adaptations and processes of cultural change.
Note: Anth C102 is not a prerequisite to Anth C103.
Core Area: Social and Behavioral Sciences.

Anth C270
Indians of North America
An introductory survey of North American Indian societies and culture. Emphasis will be placed on the descriptive comparison of selected Indian societies through the study of North American culture areas, levels of sociocultural integration, Indian history, and contact with Euro-American culture.
Core Area: Historical and Cultural Studies.

May 29–Jul 11, TuTh 6:00–8:50pm, DC 524, Mr Strong, Sched No 704755, 3 Credits

Anth 280
New England Folklore
An introduction to the folklore and folklife of New England. Folklore of the sea, the lumberwoods, farms, and millworks; regional legends, stories, ballads, and crafts will be among the topics covered.

Jul 16–Aug 23, MTuWTh 9:55–11:20am, HC 020/1/428, Ms Groce, Sched No 704955, 3 Credits

Anth 367
Social and Cultural Perspectives on Witchcraft and Sorcery
Beliefs about people with extraordinary powers to cause harm or good are found in societies of different types and in different periods in history. This course examines such beliefs in a number of different cultural, geographical, and historical contexts in order to demonstrate ways in which anthropologists and other social scientists approach the more general problem of understanding the function of belief systems in human society. The course does not teach techniques of witchcraft or sorcery.
Prerequisite: Anth C103, and junior or senior standing, or permission of instructor.

Art

Art C100
Language of Art
The course teaches students to begin to understand the processes of artistic creation. It enables the student to grasp the expressive content of works of art in a wide variety of media and to analyze how the artist creates his/her effect. It is not an historical survey. Through lectures, discussions, field trips and museum visits, the student studies paintings, sculptures, and buildings with examples chosen as often as possible from the Boston area. The course addresses such concepts as rhythm, pacing, elements of stability versus change and the possibilities of differing interpretations of subject matter through formal variations. It offers a solid introduction to the arts by developing the student's ability to see and analyze forms as the result of aesthetic and interpretive decisions. Instruction in writing and critical thinking is provided.
Core Area: The Arts.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 11:35am–1:00pm, HC 020/3/420, Staff, Sched No 705759, 3 Credits

Art C199
Visual Thinking
This course serves as an introduction to the visual arts by emphasizing how one thinks visually. It provides training and exploration in the organization of sensory experiences—experiences which are found already ordered in forms of art and design or which are encountered haphazardly in the world around one. Writing assignments will complement studio exercises, lectures, and selected readings dealing with issues such as space, light, color, and composition.
Core Area: The Arts.

Art 210
Boston Neighborhoods
Through a series of four walking tours, combined with lectures and discussions, this course will focus on the growth and architectural development of Boston's downtown, Beacon Hill, Back Bay, and Dorchester neighborhoods. Each neighborhood will be examined as the product of a mixture of social and financial factors such as immigration, railroads, land speculation, land filling, and a changing local and national economy. The student will be shown how to "read" Boston's built environment as a visual history of the city. The emphasis will be on architectural styles as indicators of growth rather than as indicators of fashion.
Note: This course does not meet requirements for the major in Art.

Art C250
Art of the Twentieth Century
An analysis of the art of the twentieth century involves fundamental issues of form and content shared by all the arts. Taking a three-fold approach—formal, critical, and historical—this course examines the developments of modern painting, sculpture, and architecture as well as the ascendant art forms of photography, video, and performance. It analyzes general theories and specific works in detail. Through class discussions, reading assignments, papers, and field trips, the student learns that the formal problems posed by twentieth century art are closely related to those in literature, music, and theatre, for they are problems of structure and definition, harmony and rhythm, diction and coherence. The student thus develops cntical capabilities that he or she can apply to works by Picasso or Eliot, Matisse or Ravel. Instruction provided in translating visual experience into the written word.
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing.
Core Area: The Arts.

Art C265
Film Analysis
Any thorough and systematic study of film, because of its essentially interdisciplinary nature, must address concerns and problems common to other forms of artistic expression such as literature, theatre, painting, and photography. The particular approach taken in this course to the study of film offers an encounter with the works that goes beyond the conventional experience of theatre and TV viewing and employs special methods of projection that permit detailed analysis by means of the use of slow motion and still frame techniques. The films thus studied will include examples of classic Hollywood, contemporary American, and foreign feature films, and the documentary. The course is not primarily historical in emphasis; rather, its concerns are the visual language of film, its use as the vehicle for narrative and theme, and major film types and styles. Papers are intended to develop skills in writing and critical thinking through the analysis and interpretation of sequences from the films studied in class.
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing.
Core Area: The Arts.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 9:55am–12:25pm, HC 020/3/407, Mr Risse, Lab Fee: $20.00, Sched No 706458, 3 Credits

Art 293
Photography I
This course introduces the student to basic issues in photography. The mechanics of the camera, the techniques of the darkroom, and matters of creative and personal import are addressed through illustrated lectures, class critiques, and assigned lab hours. Some attention is given to the history of photography. Note: Photographic materials are expensive. In addition to the lab fee, which provides chemicals and miscellaneous darkroom supplies, students must expect to invest a minimum of $75.00 in paper and film.
Prerequisite: One 100-level art course.

Lect: May 29–Jul 11, TuWTh 12:00–4:00pm, HC 090/8/025, Ms Novak, Sched No 706903, 3 Credits

Art 481
Visual Books
This studio course will concentrate on traditional and non-traditional visual books as structures for the presentation of ideas. Each student will be required to produce a book using existing or newly created images in any medium. The history and contemporary use of the artist's book will be examined and discussed through viewing of artists' books, lectures by two book artists, and trips to libraries in Boston with rare and/or artist book collections. Class time will also include simple bookbinding demonstrations and group critiques of work in progress. Work on the individual books themselves will be done outside of class.
Note: A lab fee of $30 will be required of students needing to use the photography lab.
Prerequisite: Two studio courses in any one medium or permission of the instructor.

Hist 478A
Terrorism In Modern History
This course will study the phenomena of terrorism by considering twentieth century political movements that have used or are using terror to achieve their objectives. The course will develop an analytical framework for the study of terrorism and will use this framework in exploring the historical backgrounds, objectives, ideologies, tactics, and membership profiles of selected groups, and considering the responses of their opponents. Among the groups studied will be the I.R.A., the Irgun, the P.L.O., the Baader-Meinhof, and the Ku Klux Klan.
Prerequisite: Junior standing or permission of instructor.

Law and Justice

Law Jus 103A
Battered Women
The legal, societal, and emotional issues of battered women will be the focus of this course. Discussion of the philosophy and politics of battering, as well as the practical problems faced by battered women. A look at the social and legal remedies presently available and why their effectiveness is so limited. There will also be discussion as to how the issue of violence against women finally came to the public's attention, and how society has perpetuated the myths behind battering and how the processes which perpetuate the violence can be reversed. In addition, a look at shelters, direct action and legal and legislative reform in this area, including controversial self-defense cases involving battered women who have killed abusive spouses or lovers.

May 29–Jun 26, MW 6:00–8:50pm, DC 517, Ms Butler, Sched No 734459, 2 Credits

Law Jus 103B
Neighborhood Justice
A courtroom with no judge, no defendant, and no finding of guilt or innocence—this scene hardly conforms to our standard images of justice. Several factors, including the fiscal crisis of the state, court backlogs of caseloads, and increasing costs of adjudication have contributed to the emergence of arbitration and mediation programs that deal with a number of community disorders and minor crimes, particularly those involving juveniles. Some of these programs are extensions of the court, while others are community run and help solve disputes and rebuild communities. This course will examine the varieties and scope of this kind of mediation, its relations with the formal justice system, and its impact on individual disputants and the community.

Law Jus 103C
Law and Secret Wars: The C.I.A.
This course examines the utilization of covert actions and para-military operations as one facet of U.S. foreign policy/foreign relations. The literature for this course will come from a wide variety of sources, including government reports/documents, journalistic accounts, accounts written by participants of the programs, as well as the more academic materials from the social sciences and humanities.

Law Jus 103D
Law, Crime, and the New Right
Over the past decade, the New Right has emerged as a potent influence; shaped by an uneasy alliance between the fringe old right, class conservatives, religious fundamentalists, and disenchanted former liberals, the New Right today is the major challenger to the ideology of corporate liberalism or pseudo-welfare capitalism. In this course, we will explore the positions of the New Right regarding the problem of crime. Linking together their positions or policy recommendations for such areas as the death penalty, mandatory sentencing, rules of evidence, police powers, and role and powers of the judiciary, we shall develop a coherent whole in order to develop the framework of a broader theory of law, justice, and crime control.

Law Jus 103E
Community Crime Control
The common model of the history of community crime control is the lynch mob of the early West hanging the suspected horse thief. In this course we will examine the broader character of this history. Beginning with the classic vigilantes, "The South Carolina Regulators," the KKK, and so on—and moving to more progressive efforts—such as the Defender, the Black Panther, and the Latin Guards, we will examine community efforts at both maintenance of social order as well as the establishment of social justice. We will specifically pay close attention to the class character of their leadership, the social composition of the members, the class interests they represented, as well as specific activities. Course material will come from the social sciences, literature, and films.

Math Diagnosis

It is greatly to the advantage of the student to be placed in the proper course. Students are advised to consult course descriptions for prerequisites and equivalents before registering for math courses. To ensure placement in the right course, each student will be required to take a Math Diagnostic Test before being admitted to a course that requires this test as indicated in its description. This step will prevent loss of time in switching courses or obtaining refunds after classes have begun.

The test will be given during the following periods for students enrolling in summer math courses:

May 15, 10:00am–1:00pm, 010/1/009
May 15, 4:00–7:00pm, 010/1/009
May 16, 10:00am–1:00pm, 010/1/009

Math C110
Basic Algebra

For students with weak math background who want to develop skills for further math or science courses. Covers basic high school math. Topics include: multiplying and factoring polynomials, linear equations and straight lines, fractional exponents and radicals, ratios of polynomials, quadratics, word problems. Generally limited to students with less than 3 years of high school math preparation.
Note: No student will receive graduation credits for Math C110 if it is taken after successful completion of Math C124 or C130 or a higher math course.
Prerequisite: Math Diagnostic Test only.
Core Area: Mathematics and Computer Languages.

Math C130
Precalculus

Preparation for first year calculus. Covers symmetry, graphs, functions, lines, parabolas and max-min problems, exponential and logarithm functions, exponential growth, semilog graphing, and the trigonometric functions and their inverses. Qualified students should enter Math C140 without taking this course.
Note: No student will receive graduation credits for Math C130 if it is taken after successful completion of Math C140 or a higher math course. Students who have successfully completed Math C130 may not subsequently take Math C124 for credit.
Prerequisite: Math Diagnostic Test only. Successful completion of Math C110 is not enough.
Core Area: Mathematics and Computer Languages.

Math C140
Calculus I

The first in the calculus sequence of courses for science and math majors. Starts with the basic concepts of functions and limits. Topics covered include: derivatives and their applications, definite and indefinite integrals with applications to geometrical and physical problems, discussion of algebraic and transcendental functions.
Note: A student who has received credit for Math C135 may not take Math C140 for credit without the explicit permission of the department.
Prerequisite: Math Diagnostic Test or Math C130.
Core Area: Mathematics and Computer Languages.

Machine and Assembly Language Programming
A detailed description of the structure and machine language of digital computers and of the hardware components of computing systems. The use of assembly language and its relation to higher level programs and data structures will be explored. Students will be expected to complete a number of programs exemplifying the techniques of the course.
Note: The fee for this three credit course is $172.50.
Prerequisite: Math C138 or permission of instructor.

Lect: May 29–Jul 31, MTuTh 9:55–11:20am, HC 010/2/127, Staff, Lab Fee: $20.00, Sched No 740278, 3 Credits
Disc: M 11:30am–1:00pm, HC 010/1/053, Sched No 740301
Disc: Tu 11:30am–1:00pm, HC 010/1/053, Sched No 740317

Math 330
Applied Discrete Mathematics
An introduction to the algebraic structures used in computing: sets, mathematical induction, ordered sets, Boolean algebras, calculus, graphs, trees, finite fields, error-correcting codes, and automata theory. Proofs of theorems about these structures will be constructive (algorithmic). Applications to computing will be discussed.
Prerequisite: Math C137, C141, and 260; or permission of instructor.

May 29–Jul 31, MTuTh 8:15–9:40am, HC 010/1/054, Staff, Sched No 740456, 3 Credits

Music

Music C110
The Listening Experience
This course assists students in developing skills of comprehension and in deepening musical understanding. Technical language, sometimes necessary in identifying musical processes, is kept to a minimum. At first, attention is focused on specific elements proper to music: rhythm, melody, harmony, texture, and basic organizational principles. These are related to comparable elements in other arts. Students subsequently discover how the elements of music work together in representative works drawn from a wide repertory. Historical changes in musical style are also observed.
Core Area: The Arts.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 8:15–9:40am, HC 010/1/005, Mr Patterson, Sched No 745901, 3 Credits

Music C111
Introduction to Music
Basic music materials, principles of design, and the cultural significance of representative works in historical sequence. Designed primarily for non-music majors.
Core Area: The Arts.

May 29–Jul 11, MW 6:00–8:50pm, HC 010/1/005, Mr Patterson, Sched No 746105, 3 Credits

Jul 16–Aug 23, MTuWTh 8:15–9:40am, HC 010/1/005, Mr Plotkin, Sched No 746155, 3 Credits

Nursing

Nursing 201
Pathophysiology
This course deals with alterations in the normal physiology of body structures. The course first discusses normal states, then physiological changes that ultimately result in the symptoms of disease. It considers the various body systems (e.g., cardiovascular, renal, respiratory, endocrine).

May 29–Jun 28, MTuWTh 11:35am–1:35pm, HC 010/1/057, Mr Segelman, Sched No 746555, 3 Credits

See "Location Key" on page 2 for explanation of campus, building, floor, and room codes (e.g., HC 020/3/618).

Nursing 305
Health Assessment I
The focus of this course is on assessment, the first phase of the nursing process. Introducing students to the basic processes of health assessment, the course presents interviewing and history taking as major elements of the communication process and describes the physical examination techniques of inspection, palpation, percussion, auscultation, measurement, and instrumentation as extensions of the observation process. The course also emphasizes the nursing diagnostic statement as the basis for planning nursing management. Systems analysis of the subsystems of the human body is the organizing framework of the course.
Prerequisites: Admission to the nursing major and Nursing 300, 301, 302.

May 29–Jun 28, TuWTh 9:00am–1:30pm, HC 010/1/063, Staff, Sched No 746755, 4 Credits
Summer Course Fee: $500.00
Lab Fee: $20.00

Nursing 306
Health Assessment II
A continuation of Nursing 301, this course further considers communication processes and adds further physical examination techniques to the repertoire of observation skills. The course emphasizes the interpretation of physical data in the light of underlying anatomical structures and physiological processes. Students are introduced to radiographic and laboratory assessment as additional means of client evaluation. Students apply the content of the course in practica.
Prerequisite: Nursing 305.

Jul 2–Aug 1, TuWTh 9:00am–1:30pm, HC 010/1/063, Staff, Sched No 747004, 4 Credits
Summer Course Fee: $500.00
Lab Fee: $20.00

Occupational Education

Courses offered through the Center for Occupational Education are subject to final University approval.

Occ Ed 502
Vocational Education Programming for Special Needs Students
This course will introduce vocational education students to contemporary concepts of vocational education for students with special needs. Among topics to be considered are the nature of handicapping conditions, state and federal regulations dealing with the handicapped, educational planning for the handicapped and the social issues involved in instructing special needs students.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 4:00–6:30pm, North Shore Regional Vocational High School, Beverly, Staff, Sched No 769731, 3 Credits

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 4:00–6:30pm, Occupational Resource Center, Staff, Sched No 769753, 3 Credits

Occ Ed 520
Career/Vocational Assessment and Evaluation for Special Needs Students
This course will seek to develop students' understanding of the underlying rationale and theoretical basis of vocational assessment with an emphasis on psychomotor, cognitive and affective issues as they are expressed in an educational profile. A thorough review of psychometric testing, including vocational aptitude batteries, work sample instruments and interest inventories, will be conducted. Interpretation and report writing will be stressed as well as discussion of implementation issues of vocational assessment in public school settings.

Occ Ed 545
Safety Programs for Administrators and Teachers of Occupational Education
This course is designed to develop the ability to recognize, avoid, and prevent hazards in the school and work settings. An in-depth review of laws relating to safety and of safety standards developed by OSHA will provide the basis for the development of sound safety practices. Safety check lists will be developed and plans drawn for viable school safety programs. The need for, the function and the use of safety committees, accident reporting, record keeping, and personnel protective devices will be discussed.

Jun 25–Jul 23, MTuWTh 9:00am–4:30pm, Occupational Resource Center, Staff, Sched No 770011, 3 Credits

Ind Arts 221
Graphic Arts II
This is a workshop course using processes of offset and letterpress printing. The major process used will be offset printing where students will produce a printed job from planning stages through actual production and binding. The course is intended to prepare students to instruct and produce photo graphics curricula for the teaching of printing at the secondary level.
Prerequisites: Ind Arts 210; Ind Arts 220.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 4:00–6:30pm, Occupational Resource Center, Staff, Sched No 769319, 3 Credits

Ind Arts 230
Electronics I
Introduction to basic AC/DC circuit theory. Topics included in the discussion are resistors, parallel series combinations, voltage generation and sources, Ohm's Law, equivalent circuits, electromagnetic principles, measuring techniques and instruments, inductors, capacitators, R-C time constants, average and R.M.S. values of sine waves, A.C. circuit analysis, resonance circuits. This course includes laboratory experiments to reinforce theoretical concepts. Included is some electronic circuit assembly.
Prerequisite: Ind Arts 210.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 4:00–6:30pm, Melrose High School, Staff, Sched No 769036, 3 Credits

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 4:00–6:30pm, Occupational Resource Center, Staff, Sched No 769042, 3 Credits

Ind Arts 262
Small Engines
A comprehensive hands-on course covering all aspects of small engine mechanics. Theory of small engine mechanics and tactile skills are emphasized. Engine types emphasized will be two and four cylinder stroke cycle engines, air and liquid cooled, gasoline and diesel engines, horsepower range 2.0 to 100.
Prerequisites: Ind Arts 210 and Massachusetts classroom teaching certificate.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 7:00–9:30pm, Occupational Resource Center, Staff, Sched No 769119, 3 Credits

Ind Arts 265
Construction
This course presents a survey of methods, types, and basic processes of wood frame construction. Every phase in the construction of wood frame buildings, from the initial masonry work to the plastering and final trimming will receive some consideration. Special emphasis will be given to energy efficiency in design and to possible uses of alternative sources of energy.
Prerequisite: Massachusetts classroom teaching certificate.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 7:00–9:30pm, Salem High School, Staff, Sched No 769169, 3 Credits

Ind Arts 301
Woodworking II
This is an advanced course in woodworking offered to students desiring background and skill development in the associate techniques and materials used in the woodworking industry. Planing, rough cutting, assembly and finish are some areas covered with an introduction to specialized areas of the trade. Methods of mass production are demonstrated throughout the course.
Prerequisite: Ind Arts 201.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 4:00–6:30pm, Watertown High School, Staff, Sched No 769292, 3 Credits

Ind Arts 440
Architectural Drawing and Design
The main emphasis of the course is to have students develop proficiency in the analysis and execution of working drawings of house plans. The students will successfully compose plot plans, floor plans, foundation plans, elevations, construction plans and pictorial drawings of a house. The ultimate outcome of this course is to make students aware of the correct procedure and procedural nomenclature for composing a complete set of house drawings.
Prerequisites: Ind Arts 240 and 340.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 4:00–6:30pm, Lowell High School, Staff, Sched No 769436, 3 Credits

Sec Ed 201
Educational Psychology
A study of psychological facts and principles fundamental to learning, teaching, and personal relationships between teacher and learner. Developmental theories will be examined.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 4:00–6:30pm, New Bedford High School, Staff, Sched No 759227, 3 Credits

Sec Ed 420
Tests and Measurements
Theory and practice of measurement and evaluation in the secondary school. This course will examine standardized and teacher-devised instruments; individual and group measurement of achievement and intelligence; introductory statistics as they pertain to tests and measurements; marking and grading.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 4:00–6:30pm, North Shore Regional Vocational High School, Beverly, Staff, Sched No 759627, 3 Credits

Physics

Phys C107
College Physics I
Non-calculus introductory physics for the student with a strong interest or background in science. Topics in mechanics, wave motion, heat, kinetic theory of gases, electricity, optics, atomic and nuclear physics. Biology majors, premedical students, and others who need or want laboratory work in physics should enroll concurrently in Phys 171.
Note: Enrollment is limited. Priority is given to students registering for both C107 and 171.
Prerequisite: Math C130 or permission of instructor.
Core Area: Natural Sciences.

Pol Sci C220
International Relations
Through the examination of past and current international events, this course will identify basic principles and concepts which explain the behavior of nations; and it will provide an introduction to the general area of social and behavioral sciences. Special attention will be given to the role of war, economic relations, technology, ideologies (Marxism and Capitalism-Liberalism in particular), and various attempts like those of the United Nations to regulate international conflict. Of particular concern will be the role of the Third World and its perspective, the dynamics of global interdependence, and the psychological dimension which ultimately determines how nations perceive each other. This course will also help students develop their analytic skills in speaking, reading, and writing.
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing.
Core Area: Social and Behavioral Sciences.

Pol Sci 424
American Foreign Policy
Major issues and problems of American foreign policy in the contemporary world. The domestic sources of foreign policy. Problems examined will vary from year to year.
Prerequisite: Junior standing.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 9:55–11:20am, HC 020/2/206, Mr Langley, Sched No 753306, 3 Credits

Pol Sci 477
Power and Policy: The USA and the USSR
An analysis of the political institutions, leadership, and practices in the Soviet Union and the United States. The focus is on the structure of the government, the role of ideology, and political culture, the relationship between government, society, and political decision-making in the realms of both domestic and foreign policy.

May 29–Jul 11, MTuWTh 8:15–9:40am, HC 020/2/421, Ms Lieberman, Sched No 753467, 3 Credits

Pol Sci 488
Field Work in Politics
Carefully supervised field work, available only to a limited number of qualified students in any one semester. Written prospectus of the project, periodic conferences with a faculty advisor, and appropriate written work required.
Prerequisites: Completion of a relevant course, and permission of department.

By Arrgt, (contact the Political Science Department), Mr Beard, Sched No 753706, 3 Credits

Pol Sci 590
Field Practicum in Politics
Prerequisite: Approval of Political Science Department.

Psychology

Psych C100
Introductory Psychology
An introduction to the scientific study of individuals and their behavior including an examination of human development, psychological processes (for example, feeling, thinking, learning), personalities, social relationships and biological processes. Course assignments and classroom work will integrate the course content with training in writing skills.
Core Area: Social and Behavioral Sciences.

Psych C102
Introduction to Behavioral Research
An introduction to the ways of discovering, describing, and making warranted assertions about aspects of people and social life. The chief objectives are: 1) to develop the skills and knowledge necessary to become an intelligent critic of research in the behavioral and social sciences and 2) to impart a rudimentary understanding of the design and evaluation of scientific research. Statistical material will be treated in a conceptual manner. Course assignments and classroom work will integrate the course content with training in writing skills.

Spanish Translation Program
The Program in Translation is designed for native speakers of both English and Spanish, and is meant to give them a career option by providing them with a skill ancillary to their basic education. The program consists of two intensive six-credit courses (Span 306 and 307), offered in consecutive six-week sessions. Students will concentrate on translating into their own language, but will also do some translation into the non-native language. Upon successful completion of the coursework, students will qualify as candidates for the Certificate in Translation. A departmental panel will grant certificates to students who pass the comprehensive examination in translation. Credits for completed coursework may be earned independently.

For information about prerequisites and qualifying examinations, call the Spanish Department at 929-7670.

Span 306
Introduction to the Techniques of Translation
Development of the basic techniques and skills needed for translation. Emphasis on translation into the native language with some practice in the opposite direction. Methods of contrasting linguistics to analyze pertinent aspects of language structure, involving syntax, vocabulary and style, are employed. Material for this course is taken from published translations of both a literary and non-literary nature. Students are given ample opportunity to apply these techniques through a series of translation assignments, which form the basis for class discussion.

Span 307
Advanced Translation
Practice in translating a variety of genres and styles, both literary and non-literary, e.g., passages from cultural material, short stories and essays; government documents; scientific, commercial and technical prose. Emphasis is on translating into the native language, but considerable practice is given in translating material in the commercial and human service fields from the native to the non-native language. Literary material is taken from various periods to make students aware of historical changes in vocabulary, syntax, tone and style.
Prerequisite: Span 306.

Coun 670
Use and Abuse of Alcohol in Society
This course surveys the broader problems caused by the use and abuse of alcohol in modern society. It draws upon intra- and intercultural comparisons in emphasizing the magnitude of the alcohol addiction problem, and presents and analyzes normative data. Part of the course is given to a study of the physiological consequences of abusive drinking. The course will also consider poly-drug abuse, the family of the alcoholic, Alcoholics Anonymous, and the relationship of the criminal justice system to alcoholism rehabilitation. Participants will visit examples of the six kinds of agencies making up the community-based treatment system: the shelter, the detoxification unit, the halfway house, the in-patient center, the out-patient center, and the outreach program.

Critical and Creative Thinking

CCT 611
Seminar in Critical Thinking
This seminar will explore two basic issues about critical thinking and education: (1) the transferability of critical thinking skills from one subject area to another (e.g., from science to history) and from the classroom to everyday experience; and (2) our ability to test for the development and improvement of critical thinking skills. Examination of different ways of introducing a focus on critical thinking into classroom settings (including some already existing programs) in exploring the former, and presently existing tests for critical thinking in the latter. Previous course work about critical thinking skill development is a prerequisite for this course. This course satisfies one of the requirements of the special collaborative UMass/Boston-UMass/Amherst doctoral program in Critical and Creative Thinking and Education.

CCT 622
Seminar in Moral Education: Issues in Teaching for Social Responsibility
This course will explore in depth and detail issues involved in attempts to integrate a focus on developing students' social awareness and social responsibility into standard subject areas in middle and secondary school instruction. Examples drawn from curricula in history and social studies, in science, and in the teaching of literature will be examined critically. Major topics such as the nature of social responsibility, indoctrination vs. teacher neutrality, and the development of values through classroom teaching will be covered.

CCT 630
Criticism and Creativity in Literature and the Arts
Expression and evaluation, freedom and discipline, creative production and the critical response to it—how do these dualities relate to visual and verbal imagination as they are demonstrated in literature and the arts? Specific strategies for eliciting imaginative work in these areas will be demonstrated, as will specific strategies for evaluating imaginative works. Finally, this course will focus on ways to help others (including children) develop critical and creative skills and on ways to effective use strategies for eliciting and evaluating imaginative work.

Archaeology on Long Island

Anth 485
Field Seminar in Archaeology

This course will teach the basic skills of archaeological survey, excavation, and laboratory analysis through field work on Long Island in Boston Harbor. Long Island is the last of the large Harbor Islands still unstudied by archaeologists and the field school will focus on locating and mapping prehistoric sites on two large sections of the island. We will also be testing a number of hypotheses about prehistoric use of the Boston Harbor Islands generated from previous work on the islands. Students will thus learn a variety of field and laboratory skills including site survey techniques, site mapping, excavation, recording, and laboratory processing of materials. They will also study the ways in which theory and models in archaeology are applied in a specific field situation. For more information call Dr. Luedtke at 929-8150, or write to the Department of Anthropology. Limit: 12 students. Application deadline: April 15, 1984.
Prerequisite: Permission of Instructor.

Italian Language and Culture: A Study Holiday

Ital 298, 299
Tutorial I & II

The Italian Department at UMass/Boston in conjunction with the International Council for Cultural Exchange (ICCE) and the University of Pisa is offering a special program in Italian language and culture this summer. The program will be held at the Collegio Colombo in Viareggio, a typical Italian summer resort with easy access to Florence, Pisa, Siena, Genova, and other urban centers. The course of study will emphasize practical Italian conversation, modern culture, and a series of lectures followed by field trips to the cultural riches of central Italy. Classes will be held at the Collegio, which is a residential conference center featuring dining rooms, an auditorium, a gym, and lounges as well as sleeping accommodations. It is minutes from either the beach or the center of town. The cost of the basic program is $1750 (payable to ICCE) which includes round-trip air fare between the USA and Italy, guided travel within Italy, sightseeing, instruction, and room and board. Students will have the opportunity to earn four credits from UMass/Boston. (Additional course and registration fee: $200.00.) The program is open to anyone seventeen or older. For more information and a tentative itinerary, contact either Professor Fiora Bassanese or Professor Antonio Carrara at the Italian Department, telephone 929-7650.

Criminal Justice Courses through the College of Public and Community Service

UMass/Boston's College of Public and Community Service (CPCS) operates according to a competency-based curriculum. Students demonstrate specific competencies which are part of the CPCS curriculum. These competencies are evaluated by the faculty according to clearly specified criteria to which both students and faculty are responsible. Students receive narrative evaluations rather than grades. Credit is given not for completing a course, but rather for demonstrating the competency that the course helps the student to achieve. Each competency has a specific credit equivalency which can be transferred on a pass/fail basis for elective credit to the other colleges of UMass/Boston. Non-UMass/Boston students wishing to transfer credit equivalencies from CPCS are advised to obtain approval from their own institutions prior to enrollment.

For purposes of computing summer session course fees, each CPCS course is listed with a specific number of credit equivalencies. This is done to meet the instructional costs of offering the courses. The actual credit equivalences that students receive will be based on competencies, not credits.

Using the Small Claims Court

Bad Debts Hurt!
Get Inexpensive Justice

Here's a way to collect on bad debts, without a lawyer, and save money. Whether you're a businessman, a property owner, a tenant, or a consumer, you are bound to encounter injustices. Overdue accounts, bad checks, faulty merchandise, minor accident claims, and landlord-tenant disputes are all part of life. "Inexpensive Justice" is a practical half-day teleconference workshop for non-lawyers. The non-credit workshop will familiarize you with the small claims court system, through which citizens may sue in civil cases without employing a lawyer. All relevant aspects of conducting your own claims case will be presented in a non-technical manner. The workshop will include a color videotape showing of a small claims case from start to finish. You'll also receive a booklet with step-by-step instructions.

Emergency Service Training

The emergency medical service system is made up of three components: 1) "first responders," who are able to start emergency care immediately when time is important for the survival of victims of serious accidents or sudden illnesses, and to provide aid that will prevent further injuries and may even save lives; 2) emergency medical technicians, who provide advanced emergency medical care, stabilize the condition of victims, and prepare victims for transportation; and 3) hospital emergency departments, which provide the final stage of emergency care and treat victims as they begin to recuperate. Both the American Red Cross and the American Heart Association believe that there should be one first responder in every household and every office. Working toward this goal, the Office of Emergency Service Training offers reasonably priced training to the general public in the various elements of "first response." The Office also conducts more advanced courses for persons who wish to become emergency medical technicians and for practicing EMTs who wish to upgrade their skills.

Software Specialist Institute

The Software Specialist Institute has been established to provide online/interactive workshop courses for continuing professional education in the field of information technology.

These "hands-on" workshop courses will cover the primary systems areas including operating, application development, database management, data communication, and interactive programming.

The Instititue has established its online/interactive format in direct response to the increased software sophistication of the commercial marketplace and its need for persons trained in specific software environments.

The courses listed below are intended to serve data processors whose primary responsibility is to design, develop, and manage computerized systems, or users who are involved with developing, monitoring, and managing data processing systems.

This semester the Institute will offer courses in two categories:

- short courses and seminars scheduled during the day and dealing with online database/data communication, programming, information technology, and PC/micro application; and
- semester-long advanced evening courses providing intensive study of two or more systems areas and designed to enhance the professional career possibilities of data processors with one or more years' experience.

Students in these courses use a Terminal Resource Center equipped with state-of-the-art hardware/software systems. They supplement classroom instruction by using a Library Resource Center featuring the latest in interactive and video education.

Free Summer Activities for Students

All summer school students paying service fees may participate in the following activities.

Harbor Art Gallery

This student-run gallery exhibits professional and student work. It is located on the first floor of Building Two.

Film Series

Popular contemporary and classic films are featured weekly. Pick up the schedule in the Student Activities Office (Building One, 4th Floor, Room 181) or look for the announcement in each week's Mass Media.

Lecture Series

Topical and controversial lectures are featured throughout the summer. Pick up the schedule in the Student Activities Office (Building One, 4th Floor, Room 181) or watch for announcements in the Mass Media.

Athletics

The new Catherine Forbes Clark Athletic and Recreation Center houses the following facilities:

Competition Ice Rink
Swimming Pool
Gymnasiums
Gymnastics Area
Combative and Creative Area

The Clark Center is open 10:00 am to 7:00 pm, Monday through Friday,and 1:00 to 5:00pm on Saturday and Sunday.

There are courts for handball, racquetball and squash on the first floor of Building Two and racquetball courts on the third floor of Building One. Interested students may sign up at each location.

An athletic field, eight tennis courts and a softball field, are available for student use. Organized activities are listed in a schedule available at the Athletic Office on the first floor of the Clark Center.

A current valid UMass/Boston ID is required for entrance to all University athletic facilities.

Swimming Program

Swimming instruction will be offered this summer according to the guidelines of the American Red Cross "Learn to Swim" program. Pick up a schedule in the Pool Office at the Clark Center.

Sailing Program

Sailing instruction is offered from June 1st through August 1st, Monday through Friday (weather and tide conditions permitting). Interested students must take a basic swimming test before registering for instruction. Appropriate certification is awarded according to the level of proficiency achieved.

Fifteen Mercury sailboats, five Lasers and eight rowing dories are available at the sailing dock, which is located adjacent to the pumphouse near the Healey Library.

Discount Tickets

Tickets for sporting and cultural events are available at reduced prices through the Student Activities Office (Building One, 4th Floor, Room 181).

Mass Media

The student-run newspaper is published each Tuesday and is available at various locations on all campuses.

WUMB

UMass/Boston's radio station operates at 91.9 on the FM dial and features a varied format of music and public affairs programming. A carrier frequency brings WUMB's AM signal to several locations on campus, including all cafeterias.

Concerts

Indoor and outdoor concerts are offered by the Student Activities Office. For a full schedule, visit the office in Building One, 4th Floor, Room 181.

The Pub

Beer, wine, and snacks are served in a congenial atmosphere. The Pub is located in Building One, 3rd floor, and is open from noon to 4:00pm, Monday through Friday.

Wavelength

The summer edition of this quarterly student magazine will be available at many locations on all campuses.

Social Events

The Student Activities Office plans celebrations, festivals, and parties. For complete information, visit the office in Building One, 4th Floor, Room 181, or watch for announcements in the Mass Media.

Admissions Seminars

For adults considering returning to college, the Admissions Office offers a seminar at the Downtown Center every Tuesday. For details, call 929-8000.

● Career Planning, Resume Writing, and Interviewing Techniques Workshops

The Office of Career Services is offering the following free workshops designed to equip students with the skills necessary for beginning a successful career. Each workshop is offered once during Summer Session I and once during Summer Session II.

Library Collections

The University Library holds a book collection numbering more than 400,000 volumes and currently subscribes to more than 3,700 domestic and foreign journals and newspapers. The main library, the Joseph P. Healey Library, is centrally located on the Harbor Campus plaza, easily accessible from the catwalk that connects all buildings on campus. It has extensive bibliography and reference holdings, a growing collection of government documents, and an art and music library that includes a Special Collections Room and listening carrels for the audio collection. In the Downtown Center there is a small library specifically designed for the students and faculty of CPCS. Its holdings are concentrated in the areas of psychology, sociology, law, and political science. The collections of both libraries are listed in the Public Catalog of the Healey Library, which holds a record of every book, journal, government document, and audio tape held by the University Library. All of these materials are available for use by students and faculty of the summer program. Temporary collections are available during the summer in the Downtown Center.

The Mental Health/Counseling Program provides personal growth counseling, crisis intervention, walk-in emergency service, workshops, consultation, information and referral. The Health Promotion Program is designed to support the clinical efforts of the Health Service and to promote responsible health consciousness throughout the University community.

Registration for Summer Session Courses

Advance Registration by Mail

To register by mail for summer session courses, fill out the registration form included in this bulletin and send the form to:

Summer Session Registration
Healey Library, 2nd Floor Lobby
University of Massachusetts at Boston
Harbor Campus
Boston, MA 02125

Registrations will be accepted on the basis of available space. Full payment must accompany the registration form (see "Fees and Payments").

Advance Registration by Telephone

Students wishing to pay course and service fees by using MasterCard or VISA may register by telephone. To register by telephone for summer session courses, simply call 929-7933. Verification of your registration will be sent to you about four days after you register.

Note: Unfortunately, telephone registration is available only to students wishing to pay course and service fees by using MasterCard or VISA.

Walk-In Registration

Students who would rather register in person may do so on the dates and at the times listed in the Academic Calendar. Walk-In Registration will take place at the Summer Session Registration Center at the Harbor Campus (Healey Library, 2nd Floor Lobby) during the following times:

M–Th, 8:30am–6:30pm, F, 9:00am–4:00pm

Late Registration

Late registration will take place at the Summer Session Registration Center at the Harbor Campus (Healey Library, 2nd Floor Lobby) during the periods listed in the Academic Calendar. Students registering during these periods must pay a $20.00 late registration fee.

Further Information

For further information about registering for summer session courses, call 929-7900 or 956-1000.

Fees and Payments; General Information

Course Fees

Undergraduate	$47.50 per credit
Graduate	60.00 per credit

Service Fees

Mandatory for all students

Registration Fee	$10.00
Educational Service Fee	5.00
Student Health Fee	15.00
Student Activities Fee	7.00
Student Athletics Fee	6.25
Late Registration Fee (when applicable)	20.00
Bad Check Fee (when applicable)	20.00

Independent Study

Only UMass/Boston students may register for Independent Study and must do so through the Scheduling Office, located in the Office of Registration and Records, after satisfying any departmental prerequisite(s). Students may pay state course fees as follows:

Resident:
Undergraduate	$47.50 per credit
Graduate	60.00 per credit
Non-resident:
Undergraduate	$154.00 per credit
Graduate	157.50 per credit

Payment of Course and Service Fees

Students must pay in full before their registrations will be accepted. No payment will be accepted after the Add/Drop deadline of the session for which payment is intended. Students may use the following methods to make payment:

Check:

Please make out a separate check to cover the course fee (and lab fee, if applicable) for each course that is being requested, and a separate check for total Service Fees (Registration, Health, Activities, and Athletics; see Course and Service Fees above). Submission of separate check payments for each course allows the University to return payments immediately for an individual course that is no longer available. Any student who combines payment into one check does so at the risk of having the entire application returned or waiting until after the Add/Drop period for a refund.

Please make checks payable to the University of Massachusetts—Continuing Education.

A payment of course and services fees made with an unacceptable check will result in administrative withdrawal, an additional bad check fee of $20.00, and referral to a collection agency, which may result in liability for the payment of a collection fee.

MasterCard or VISA:

The University of Massachusetts at Boston will accept payment by MasterCard or VISA for all course and service fees. The minimum acceptable MasterCard of VISA payment is $25.00. Please fill out the appropriate section of the registration form when registering by mail.

Cash:

Cash payments must be made at the Bursar's Office at the Harbor Campus only. (Administration Building, 2nd Floor; M–F, 9am–3:30pm)

Note: Cash payments will not be accepted at any other UMass/Boston location.

Lab Fees

Lab fees must be paid for certain courses as indicated in the schedule listings. The amounts of fees appear under schedule numbers for those courses requiring fees. The lab fee for each course must be paid at the time of registration.

Summer Student I.D. Cards

I.D. cards are required for the use of such facilities as libraries and the Clark Athletic Center. They may be obtained at the Harbor Campus through the I.D. Office (Building One, 4th Floor, Room 064) between 10:00am and 1:00pm each day. The charge is $2.00. UMass/Boston students who have currently valid I.D. cards need not obtain summer I.D. cards.

Payment by Outside Agencies

If the student's charges are to be paid by an outside agency, a payment authorization from that agency must accompany his or her registration if one is not on file in the Bursar's Office. Students are reminded that they are liable for all courses and service fees in the event that the sponsoring agency does not provide payment.

Cancellations

Summer session courses are conducted through the Division of Continuing Education, which is supported by student course fees. No state funding is available to help the Division of Continuing Education pay faculty salaries and meet overhead expenses. The Division must therefore cancel underenrolled courses. Before classes begin each session—generally during the week after the regular registration deadline—the Division projects enrollments according to the numbers of students already registered and decides whether to cancel courses that may be underenrolled. Students therefore are encouraged to register early.

Any student who has registered for a course that is cancelled may register for another course or request a refund. The course fee will be refunded in full to any student who has paid for a cancelled course and does not wish to register for another course in its place. If all courses for which the student has registered are cancelled, service fees will also be refunded.

Refunds

A student who withdraws from a course will be granted a refund according to the schedule below. Non-attendance does not constitute withdrawal. Students withdrawing from credit courses must file a valid withdrawal form with the Office of Registration and Records. Students withdrawing from non-credit courses must file a valid withdrawal form with the Continuing Education Office.

For courses scheduled for ten or more class meetings:

Withdrawal before the first class meeting	100% Refund
Withdrawal before the second class meeting	90% Refund
Withdrawal before the third class meeting	50% Refund
Withdrawal after the third class meeting	No Refund

For courses scheduled for 6–9 class meetings:

Withdrawal before the first class meeting	100% Refund
Withdrawal before the second class meeting	80% Refund
Withdrawal after the second class meeting	No Refund

For courses scheduled for 1–5 class meetings:

Withdrawal before the first class meeting	100% Refund
Withdrawal after the first class meeting	No Refund

Whenever a refund is due, either because the student wishing the refund has withdrawn from a course or because the University has cancelled the course, the student must initiate the refund procedure by notifying the Office of Registration and Records. Refunds will not be processed until after the Add/Drop period.

The amounts of all refunds are computed on the basis of withdrawal dates established by the Office of Registration and Records.

If a student has made a payment with MasterCard or VISA, the refund must be returned as a credit to the student's MasterCard or VISA account.

Unless a course has been cancelled by the University, the $10 registration fee is not refundable.

Adding and Dropping Courses

Any student may add or drop courses before the Add/Drop deadline (see "Academic Calendar"). The student should obtain an Add/Drop form from the Summer Session Registration Center at the Harbor Campus (Healey Library, 2nd Floor Lobby), have the form signed by the instructors of the courses involved, and return the form to the Summer Session Registration Center.

Withdrawing from Courses

Any student withdrawing from a course after the Add/Drop deadline (see "Academic Calendar") will receive a grade of "W" for that course. Withdrawal forms are available at the Summer Session Registration Center at the Harbor Campus (Healey Library, 2nd Floor Lobby). Failure to submit a withdrawal form before 4:00pm on the last day of the withdrawal period will result in a grade of "F."

Transcripts

Students must request transcripts in writing from the Office of Registration and Records. The cost of an official transcript is $2.00.

Pass/Fail Option for UMass/Boston Students

A total of eight courses may be taken on a Pass/Fail basis by regular UMass/Boston student while the student is an undergraduate. When the student earns a Pass (P) grade, credits for the course count as graduation credits; but the grade has no bearing on the student's cumulative average. A Fail (F) grade affects the student's cumulative average as a regular "F" would.

During the summer the following regulations apply:

1. Only one course may be taken on a Pass/Fail basis.
2. A course taken Pass/Fail cannot exceed five credits.
3. A summer course taken on a Pass/Fail basis counts toward the maximum allowed number of eight.
4. A student wishing to take a course on a Pass/Fail basis must fill out a Pass/Fail card, available at the Office of Registration and Records. Any student submitting two Pass/Fail cards in one summer will not be allowed to take either course on a Pass/Fail basis.
5. A Pass/Fail card, once submitted, cannot be withdrawn after the Pass/Fail deadline of the session in question (see the calendar).

Grades

Letter grades reported by instructors are given numerical values according to the following chart.

A	4.0
A –	3.75
B +	3.25
B	3.0
B –	2.75
C +	2.25
C	2.0
C –	1.75
D +	1.25
D	1.0
D –	.75
F	.00
Inc	Incomplete
Y	Interim grade in a declared year-long course

The grade of Incomplete is reported only if personal circumstances of extreme difficulty, such as serious illness, have kept a student from completing a portion of his or her required classwork or from taking a final examination; or if an instructor requests that an Incomplete be given for scholarly reasons. If a student's record is such that he or she would fail a course regardless of the quality of work yet to be done, an "F" will be reported.

A student can obtain credit for an Incomplete taken in the summer term only by finishing the work of the course by the end of the following summer term. If the work is not completed by this time, the grade will be changed to an "F." The initiative for removal of the Incomplete grade rests with the student.

An Incomplete on a final grade report is not represented in the student's temporary grade point average. When the Incomplete is later converted to a grade, the average is calculated again and the student is notified.

Once a grade is submitted, it cannot be changed except by approval of the Department Chairperson.

Regulations

Normal University regulations apply during the summer session, unless otherwise specified. Students are advised to consult the statements of these regulations available at the INFO Center in Building Two or at the Office of Student Information Services (Administration Building, 3rd Floor, Room 039).
